Bar V Ranch 4-H Field Day

Looking out at the Rincon mountains, approximately 50 4-H members and their families enjoyed a long morning at the Bar V Ranch located south of Interstate 10 and east of the Sonoita Highway. This ranch is owned by Pima County and is maintained by their Natural Resources, Parks and Recreation Division. Vanessa Prileson is Pima County's Rangeland Program Manager. Everyone broke into 4 groups and Vanessa took one group on a tour of the barns and bunkhouses. Another group introduced different grass and forbs species found on the ranch and the roles each plays in ranching and land management. They also had a display of animal skulls of animals found in the region. Micaela McGibbon used the large format ranch map to explain the features of a ranch and the challenges and benefits of different grazing regimes, and the differences in cattle breeds and values. The last station was led by Floyd White. He lives at the Bar V Ranch and demonstrated how they use the hydraulic chute and corrals to work cattle. He also had a live fire and everyone was able to fire brand a board to take home. After the rotations, everyone was invited to a cowboy lunch with cornbread, beans, shredded beef, tortillas and dessert.

Pima County hopes that this ranch can become a showcase ranch for everyone to experience. They have invited Pima County 4-H to use it a gathering place for events and a place to learn about ranch management as well as the management of our natural resources. If you would like to know more about the ranch or have ideas for another field day, please direct any questions to Micaela McGibbon at kidsandcows@me.com.

She is a great mentor to the members of her club and a longtime supporter of Pima County's Horse Project. Tabitha has taken on the task of starting a new club in an underserved area in southern Tucson. Without Tabitha's time, support, and fundraising Santa Cruz Ranchers would never have gotten started. SCR is still growing and looking for more volunteers and, in the meantime, Tabitha continues to provide her time and resources to support them and her own club at the same time. Thank you for all you do Tabitha!
