Farmer Crisis

Recently, a writer from Tucson shared with me an article she wrote for The Guardian recently. It deals with farmer stresses and suicide levels. It’s a hard topic to discuss and uncomfortable for many, but it is a problem must be dealt with. So, I would like to share with all of you the link to the article, Click Here, and ask that you increase your awareness of this problem that has spread throughout the world. The follow excerpt from the article brings to light just how big of a world-wide problem this is and we owe it to all of our families, friends, and neighbors to look out for each other and support them when times are tough.

“The US farmer suicide crisis echoes a much larger farmer suicide crisis happening globally: an Australian farmer dies by suicide every four days; in the UK, one farmer a week takes his or her own life; in France, one farmer dies by suicide every two days; in India, more than 270,000 farmers have died by suicide since 1995.”

In other more upbeat news you can look forward to a round of Winter Crop Clinics throughout central Arizona on the following dates, Jan 11, Casa Grande, Jan 10, Buckeye, Jan 16, Marana. We will be developing agendas and confirming the locations for these events over the next couple days and will post locations, CEU info and times ASAP.

We look forward to seeing all of you.

Happy Holidays
